RE: Provision of Normal Ranges by Clinical Trials and Research

This Note to File applies to the provision of normal ranges by Clinical Trials and Research (CT&R).

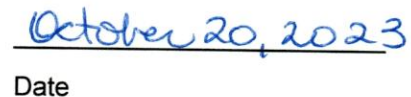

Alberta Precision Laboratories has attempted to standardize reference ranges across sites and testing platforms, but there will be variations due to different instrumentation and methodology at different sites. Going forward, APL will no longer compile and provide a yearly reference range document.

Reference ranges are available on the patient's report, wherever you access results (Epic, NetCare, etc...), in the EPIC Procedure Catalogue and in the Guide to Lab Services on Insite.
